

“He Rides because he likes the horses and he likes the people. He gets to work on strengthening his core and stretching his legs all while outside, on a horse, talking to people about everything. It's not the drudgery of physical therapy, repeat this movement, this many times, in a clinical setting. Instead it is something different every time, a new challenge, a new game, a new activity, all outside on a horse. It's so much more than physical therapy, it is recreation, play time, emotional support and cognitive challenges, for which we are very grateful!”

Please help our participants accomplish their goals by providing a scholarship.
